The Amir led the welcoming party which included the Crown Prince, ministers and officials from other Gulf states.

The 22 passengers and seven crew members arrived in Kuwait from Algiers at 10.20 pm aboard a special Kuwait Airways plane, which was sent to bring them back.

The hostages were released at 6.00 am last Wednesday morning at Algiers. Two other hostages, Saudi Arabian citizens were flown to Jeddah in a special executive jet.

The return of the mostly Kuwaiti passengers aboard the hijacked plane marked the end of the longest hijack drama in history. It began on April 5 when KAC Flight KU 422 from Bangkok to Kuwait was taken over by gunmen while flying over the Arabian Sea and diverted to Iran, landing in Mashhad where some of the hostages were After extensive negotiations in Algeria, the hijackers on Wednesday released the last batch of 31 hostages.

Men and women danced and clapped, children waved flags and sang "God Bless Our Father. Jaber," as the 29 arrived.

"I was surprised and shocked when I saw this crowd. I never expected that, "said co-pilot Eid Al Azmi inside the VIP lounge, his seven-year-old daughter tucked under his arm.

The first to descend the plane were the two ladies from the royal family, Ebtesam Khaled Al Sabah and Anwaar Khaled Al Sabah, who wiped away their tears as they hugged relatives at the airport. They were followed by their brother Khaled Al Sabah, the crew and the others.

They seemed rested and relaxed. Most of the male hostages had shaved and wore clean dishdashas and beaming smiles.

Air pirates wanted to hold hostages in Beirut

ROME, April 22, (AP): A Palestinian mediator in the Kuwaiti airliner hijacking was quoted yesterday as saying that the hijackers originally planned to land in Beirut, hold the hostages in the city and blow up the plane.

Milad Abdo, deputy director of the PLO office in Cyprus who acted as a mediator during the Kuwaiti jet's stopover in Larnaca, was quoted as saying the plan was foiled because Syrian President Hafez Al Assad refused to let the plane land in Abdo spoke in an interview with Rome's Paese Sera news-paper, which released excerpts yesterday.

According to Abdo's account the terrorists wanted to land the plane in Beirut, off-load the passengers, hold them in hideouts in the city and blow up the Kuwaiti Airways Boeing 747.

Agreed

But Assad, whose troops control the area, spoke by telephone with HH the Amir of Kuwait and agreed to prevent the plane from landing in the Lebanese capital. the report said.

No other details were given. After a stop in Mashhad, Iran. the plane went on to Larnaca. where two passengers were killed, and then to Algiers, where the remaining hostages were released on Wednesday after a fortnight in captivity. The hijackers were allowed to go free.

Safe passage for terrorists criticised

NEW YORK, April 22, (Agencies): The United States and Britain have denounced the hijackers of a Kuwait Airways jumbo jet as cold-blooded killers and pointedly questioned Algeria's judgement in letting the sky pirates go to another coun-

The ordeal ended early Wednesday in Algiers when 31 pas-sengers and crew members who had been held hostage for 16 days left the Boeing 747, all apparently in good health, and the hijackers were believed to have been flown to another country.

"We're delighted that the hijacking has ended in a way that allows the hostages to go home." British Foreign Office Minister David Mellor said.

Cause

"But I fear some of the terms will cause us very grave concern if they're as we think them to be, notably the fact that the hijackers appear to have been allowed to go free," he said.

"This was a particularly coldblooded and violent hijacking and as it becomes more apparent ... what the passengers were subjected to, more and more peo-ple will find it utterly repugnant if indeed the men have got away

Twenty-two Britons were aboard the plane when it was hijacked April 5 on a flight from Bangkok to Kuwait. They were released in Mashhad, Iran, before the plane flew to Larnaca. Cyprus, where two Kuwaiti hostages were killed, and then to Algiers. Iran and Cyprus had no comment on the end of the crisis. US Secretary of State George Shultz said letting the hijackers go free would violate international standards and not be "a proper thing to do."

Gratitude

In the past, the United States has expressed gratitude to governments that assist in ending hostage-takings, but Shultz pointedly did not offer thanks to responding to several questions about the agreement in Algiers.

"I'm not second-guessing the Algerian government. What I'm saying is these people were hijackers ... and clearly murderers. From the standpo it of the international community, we don't like to see hijackers go off free," he said speaking to a stopover in Finland on his way to Moscow.

West Germany also indirectly criticised Algeria.

In Washington, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said: "We are disappointed that there's no indication that the hijackers who murdered two innocent travellers are going to be brought to justice. We strongly support the government of Kuwait's unflinching stand against terrorist blackmail and their policy of making no concessions to the hijackers," he added.

Syria, PLO to reconcile

Ebtesam Al Sabah cannot refrain a little scream prior to her

DAMASCUS, April 22, (Reuter): Syria and the PLO have agreed to normalise relations after a five-year-long break, a senior Palestinian official said

Salim Al Zannoun, Deputy Speaker of the Palestinian National Council, said that Arafat would visit Syria very soon and meet Syrian President Hafez Al Assad. Arafat was expelled from Damascus in 1983.

Zaanoun said the decision was made after talks between a highranking PLO delegation and Syrian Vice-President Abdel Halim Khaddam in Damascus last night.

He said the reconciliation was reached through Algerian mediation and recent secret Syrian-Palestinian contacts. We can say that relations have been fully restored," Zaanoun said.

He said the Palestinian leadership which attended the funeral of slain Palestinian military commander Khalil Al Wazir in Damascus on Wednesday was expecting a meeting with the Syrian President. The meeting with Khaddam was "constructive and fruitful and we discussed in detail Palestinian-Syrian relations," Zaanoun said.

Most of the PLO executive committee and members of Fatah central committee attended the meeting which was the highest ranking contact between Syria and the PLO in some five years, he said.

"We had full agreement on most issues especially those related to the suspicious initiatives by the American envoys which are aimed at saving Israel and crushing the uprising." Zaanoun added. Arafat was at first expected to Smiling but still in daze, most of the male ex-hostages appeared physically fit although two had to be helped down the steps.

Hundreds of cars broke away from police barricades and crossed over pavements to join a motorcade taking the former captives to a family reunion at the Hunting and Equestrian Sports Club, near the airport. Pilot Subhi Naim Youssef said simply: "Thank God." An entire nation rejoiced and thanked God. The television and radio aired live the arrival. Kuwait Radio broadcast a special song praising the Amir and his government for their

"triumph" over terrorism.
Unforgettable "This is an unforgettable day in the history of Kuwait," said one senior Kuwaiti official, voicing the sentiments of thousands waiting for hours on the Airport Road and the 6th Ring Road. The presence of the Amir and the Crown Prince at the airport to receive the passengers underlines the extreme importance of the event for the Kuwaiti government," one observer said. Security was tight and policemen were sprinkled around all roads leading to Kuwait with the road near the VIP lounge blockaded two hours before the arrival of the plane carrying the former captives.

Frenzied crowds lined the route, waving national flags and victory signs as bedouin folk dancers performed traditional sword dance.

The motorcade inched toward the club as women pressed against the windows of the bus carrying the former captives to hand them candies. Young men danced on the hoods of their cars, waving swords in an unpreceden-

Agencies said Algerian authorites barred reporters and photographers from inspecting the hijacked jet which was expected to be flown back to Kuwait by a relief crew by the weekend. Damage

One Kuwait Airways official said the hijackers deliberately caused serious damage to the plane's radio equipment before departing. Reuter reports that the flight crew dismissed a report that one of the hijackers had flown the plane. "Negative, not true, not at all, it was the captain all the time and we would never let anybody handle the airplane with the passengers on board as long as we are alive," flight engineer Ayed Al Shumailan said.

Reagan picked Gulf targets

US sending 13 new warships

WASHINGTON, April 22 (Agencies): As 13 warships prepared to join America's Gulf task force, the Defence Department disclosed that President Reagan personally ordered destruction of Iranian attack boats during Monday's Gulf shootout.

Pentagon spokesman Dan Howard, briefing reporters yesterday, said the 13 warships including the aircraft carrier Forrestal — would leave for Gulf duty next week.

News reports have speculated that Reagan will extend current US military protection in the Gulf beyond it reflagged tankers and other American flag vessels, requiring a larger American fleet near the Iran-Iraq war zone.

But Howard declined to say whether Washington was increasing the size of its 29-ship Gulf force or simply relieving vessels now on patrol.

Permission At one point in Monday's battle, pilots sought permission to sink Iranian speedboats that were on the attack, he said.

"They (the speedboats) seemed to be firing at everything in sight. The request came from the jets to attack ... and the President said go ahead." Howard said.

The request was relayed through the Pentagon to Reagan, who approved the attack, and the order got back to the warplanes in just three minutes, according to the spokes-

"Not only was it a very impressive performance by the men on the scene, but by the command and control structure as well." Howard said.

US naval forces in the Gulf fired 10 missiles in the clash with Iranian ships and aircraft this week and dodged at least seven Iranian missiles, a senior Navy official said yesterday.

Iran vows to avenge deaths of its sailors

MANAMA, April 22, (Agencies): Mourners chanting "Death to America" held funeral services for Iranian sailors killed in clashes this week with US naval forces and new volunteers were reported leaving for the front to turn the Gulf into "Reagan's tomb."

Tehran Radio said the memorial services were held yesterday in the southern Iranian port of Bandar Abbas and Bushehr, 460 miles (740 km) south of Tehran. It said the mourners chanted "Death to America" as the shroud-wrapped bodies of the seamen were lowered into the ground.

Iran has become mad: Saddam

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein said Iran had missed many opportunities to end the 7-1/2year-old war honourably.

Hussein was speaking last night after he decorated Air Force Commander Air Marshal Hameed Shaaban, who led the 35-hour operation to liberate the southern Faw oil terminal which Iran had occupied for two years.

Unbalanced

Hussein said Iran had become unbalanced after the loss of Faw. "Like madmen they attacked at random the Americans, the UAE, the British and any passing ship," he said. Two Iranian frigates were badly damaged — one possibly sunk - in a firefight with US naval forces on Monday.

"The enemy would have gained the hearts of many people saying he had achieved his aim of liberating Iranian territory after Iraq withdrew its forces to international borders in 1982 ... he would have gained much," Hus-

He said Iran could also have used its failure to capture Iraq's southern port city of Basra the same year as an excuse to end the war. "We would have kept silent in one way or another," Hussein

The Iraqi leader ridiculed Iranian calls for volunteers to launch new offensive against Iraq.

Resistance

"Let them attack on 10 war fronts .. haven't they had the ability to attack on two, three or four fronts and not done so?" he said.

In a telex to Reuters, Iran's main opposition, Mujahedeen Khalq, said its fighters killed a Revolutionary Guards commander inside Iran last week.

The Baghdad-based resistance group said Ahmed Bagheri, described as a Regional Guards Corps commander-in-charge of Chah Bahar naval base in southeast Iran, died in a mujahedeen ambush.

Iraq accused Iran of firing rockets at an Iraqi border town yesterday hours after a ceasefire in the "war of the cities" declared unilaterally by Baghdad.

A high command communique said Iran rocketed Al Qurneh, 70 km (40 miles) from the southern port city of Basra, killing or wounding an unspecified number of civilians: 12 17 12 17 12

Tehran made no mention of such an attack on its daily war reports.

He added: "We were all asleep when it was finished. We didn't even see the hijackers leave the plane. The Algerians woke us up to tell us that it was all over."

Looking tired, but relieved,

Ahmed said that the hijackers kept kicking the hostages whenever they resisted or tried to talk among themselves. "We did not know that two of our brothers had been killed until after we were released," he said. Realise individuals off to be interrogated many times. They kept asking which religious sect we belonged to and if we knew any important people here in Kuwait. 'They beat us a lot." he said.

Allowed

Reuter adds: Two Saudi hostages said Iran allowed three armed men to board the aircraft during its stop in Mashhad.

"When the airplane landed at Iran's Mashhad airport three other people boarded the plane armed with all sorts of weapons, as if they were on their way to battle," 32-year-old Sand Omran Al Omran said in remarks published on Thursday.

The terrorists were getting on and off the airplane at Mashhad airport without any restriction, he said.

Abdel Aziz Mubarak Al Zahiran, a Saudi national, said all the hijackers were Lebanese and spoke a dialect from the south of the country.

"They were always trying to change their accents and spoke broken French and English in order not to reveal their nationalities," he said.

Shultz meets Gorbachev

Hopes for new arms.... control accord fade

MOSCOW, April 22, (AP): As hopes for a new arms control accord faded, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev suggested today: to US Secretary of State George Shultz that "maybe we're marking time."
The session at gilded Cath-

When Shultz told Gorbachev, "I'm here to make preparations for the President's visit," Gorbachev responded. "As for the substance, it seems that we are losing something."

India denies payoff in W. German sub deal

NEW DELHI, April 22, (Reuter): The Indian government said on Thursday that no payoffs were made in a controversial purchase of West German submarines, disputing allegations that rocked Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's government last year.

Defence Minister Krishna

Chandra Pant told parliament that an investigation found no evidence of bribery or other corrupt practices involved in the 1981 arms deal with the Howaldstwerk-Deutschewerft AG of Former Defence Minister Viswanath Pratap Singh ordered an investigation into the $1.3 billion deal involving four HDW type 1,500 submarines following allegations that a $23 million commission was paid to an Indian agent. At the time, HDW denied any improper practices.

Resignation

The investigation and other defence payoff allegations sullied Rajiv's reputation and led to Singh's forced resignation from the cabinet and later expulsion from the ruling Congress (1)

"The allegations have been found to have no basis," Pant said, as opposition members hooted in decision. Pant told the Lok Sabha that investigative agencies had found no substance in allegations of corruption, foreign exchange violations or commission payments to agents which are against Indian government

The HDW deal involved the purchase of two of the dieselpowered submarines, both commissioned into the Indian Navy in 1986. HDW also supplied kits for two others to be assembled in the Bombay naval dockyard.

Singh gained a reputation as India's leading corruption fighter while serving as Finance Min-ister but his vigorous enforcement of tax and foreign exchange laws irked many wealthy and powerful supporters of Rajiv.

The Prime Minister suddenly shifted Singh from the Finance to the Defence Ministry in January 1987. Singh resigned on April 12 after he began the HDW inves-

Late marriages are a new social phenomenon

THE assistant undersecretary for technical affairs at the Ministry of Social Affairs and Labour, Abdullah Ghloom Hussein, has said that marriage, divorce and late marriages by both sexes were prevalent in all human societies, with variations from one to another.

He added in a research publi-shed by the Council of Labour Minister's Follow-up Office. that late marriages in Kuwait were not indications of any social problem in the country and that these were simply new social phenomenon.

Dowry

He pointed out that the reluctance of Kuwaiti men to wed Kuwaiti women was the result of high dowries.

The intervention of competent Kuwaiti authorities was needed to put an end to high dowry demands and to prevent the spread of spinsterhood.

According to statistics provided in the research, the number of people whose age was over 30 years and had never married before was 5550, of whom 3146 were males and 2404 females, based on the population census of 1980.

Reasons

According to the research findings the reasons for late marriages included class considerations, high dowry, cost of living, lack of adequate opportunity for both sexes to meet and get to know each other, lack of marriage age limit, desire to continue education, reluctance to relinquish personal freedom and shoulder responsibilities for chil-dren and dedication to the pursuit of political and social

Classes

Proposed solutions to the late marriage problems included the need to raise public awareness of equality, provision of financial aid to the would-be spouses, emphasis of the role played by the family and paving the way for families to know each other.

The research also highlighted that the Kuwaiti social system consisted of three classes, the bourgeois representing 10 per cent, the middle class 70 per cent, and the working class 20 per cent and that votes for marriage to people of lower social class were 84 per cent. Families questioned about marriage to a person with lower social status were 86 per cent for and 14 per cent against, compared to 85 per cent who agreed to marriage to a person of a higher social status with 15 per cent rejecting the idea utterly.

Positive Ghloom pointed out that these findings were positive signs of class awareness, stressing that 85 to 90 per cent of the people asked did not believe in class differences or social, family and financial considerations. The research stressed that qualities sought in the spouse included religious attitudes and character in the first place, social status in the fourth place, family influence in the sixth place and financial consideration last.

Kuwait aims to provide housing for all citizens

THE assistant rector for research at Kuwait University, Dr Abdul Rasoul Al Moosa, said Kuwait was one of the countries that provided housing for its citizens.

He added that the government used oil returns for modernising the country and laying down the social and economic bases for the country.

Changed

He said one of the first aims of the state was to plan housing areas for its citizens. These were to be the suburbs or model areas for housing Kuwaitis living in the old part of the city.

Dr Al Moosa said the social structure of the state, which changed totally after the appearance of oil, was a direct reason for the appearance of the housing crisis. This crisis obliged the state to offer a house to each Kuwaiti family through the National Housing Authority and the Credit and Savings

Isolation

Housing units for non-Kuwaitis increased from 17,046 in 1957 to 152,935 in 1985, an annual increase of 32 per cent This showed the importance of immigration to the housing sector, he said.

Some areas became totally occupied by non-Kuwaitis and this increased the housing problem, besides causing a deep social isolation between the non-Kuwaitis, who formed 60 per cent of the population, and the

He said the contribution of the private sector through the establishment of real estate companies and housing societies might help to solve the housing problem.

KUWAIT PRESS DIGEST

Unique Kuwaiti attitude highly praised

THE Kuwaiti press was yesterday highly appreciative of the wise and sober manner by which the leaders of the country handled the issue of the hijacked airliner to the happy ending on Wednesday.

"The unique Kuwaiti attitude was responsible for ending the 16day ordeal of the Boeing 747 in the manner Kuwait planned and desired," the press said, commenting on the safe return home on Thursday night from Algiers, of the passengers and crew of the Writing for the second day running on the release of the airliner, the press was unanimous in reaching the conclusion that the incident "consolidated the national unity and demonstrated cohesion of the internal front." Welcoming the returning passengers and crew, the newspapers said the Kuwaiti government succeeded in securing the safe release of the plane without having to bow to blackmail despite the loss of two of the young Kuwattis at the hands of the hijackers. Two of the newspapers jubilantly linked between the safe ending of the Boeing ordeal and the liberation of the Iraqi Faw Island from the Iranian occupation as "demonstrating the triumph of the peace-loving countries over the forces of evil."

One newspaper described the hijocking as a futile attempt to "imprison the entire Kuwaiti nation" but vowed to revenge the killing of the two young Kuwaitis.

Strong solidarity

THE Kuwaiti press was jubiliant on Thursday at the peaceful ending 3 of the ordeal of the hijacked Kuwaiti airliner and the release of all theres passengers and crew without Kuwait having to bow to politicalia.

The press was unanimous in commending the wise strengs of ...

Al Qabas said Kuwait "succeeded in converting the hijockers into hostages inside the plane after our steadfastness and cohesion" robbed them of their weapons of threats and warnings."

"The world should respond to the Kuwaiti lesson to the hijackers by finding a formula for collectively dealing with the hijockers rather than compromising with them which will only lead to more terrorism," the daily said.

Al Rai Al Aam attributed the happy ending of the hijacking to the "strong cohesion and solidarity between the leadership of the country and the people." "History will record glorious pages for Kuwait which knows its course and realises its responsibilities and appreciates the magnitude of risks and challenges facing it," the newspaper said pailsing the suite in the solidary of the solida The newspaper assured the hijackers that Kuwait will never

"our freedom and dignity and will not be the last." Liberation of Faw

A KUWAITI magazine has affirmed that Iraq's liberation of Faw peninsula lost Iran a great strategic leverage and restored balance between the two warring states.

Al Taleea affirmed the "strategic privilege of the trankan military stationing in the Fow peninsula which gave Tehran the upper hand in the southern front and in the northern Gulf in addition to closing the Iragi ports of Um Qasser and Amia."

The magazine, in its latest issue's editorial, hoped that liberation of Faw will urge the reasonable Iranian officials to reconsider the feasibility of the continuation of that war, dragging since September 1980.

Troops of both countries are almost in the same positions after more than seven and half years of bitter fighting and the two belligerents along with peoples of the region were the losers, the publication emphasised. Iranian insistance on starting implementation of the security council resolution 598 on an end to the Gulf war, that is starting with determining who started the war, emanated from the "strategic supremacy following occupation of Faw," It added.

Taleea called for an end to the wor that had inflicted hundreds of thousands of casuatties and caused the loss of hundreds of billions of dollars.

Mubarak condemns hijack as an act of terrorism

PRESIDENT Hosni Mubarak of Egypt has condemned, in a press interview, the hijack of the Kuwaiti airliner as an act of terrorism which the enemies of the Arab world would exploit to project Arabs as terrorists and

"This act is rejected as it gives a bad impression about Arabs. The hijackers used murder and terror which would tarnish the Arab image. We are accused abroad of being barbaric so why commit this act?" the Egyptian leader said in an interview appearing in the weekly Al Yaqada.

In the wide-ranging interview, President Mubarak lamented the current state of Arab affairs and urged Arab governments to sink differences and reach a minimum of understanding in the face of foreign challenges.

Charity committee helps 230 needy families

THE deputy chairman of the alms and charity committee at Al Othman Mosque, Yahya Abdul Hadi has said the the committee was established in 1973 and that material and financial support was meagre at the time but soon began to increase with the increase of the committee's activities.

He said the committee paid a total of KD 15,000 to KD 20,000 per month as assistance of nearly 230 needy families, and that a good number of families stopped receiving financial aid after their income had started to improve and their straitened circumstances ended.

He said that the committee also contributed financial and moral support to all charity projects and rendered generous support to the provision of education to orphans and catering to all their needs.

Education

He pointed out that during the holy month of Ramadan the committee would receive material and financial donations from the Asr prayer time until after the Taraweeh prayers, and that the committee would accept alms and donations made in the form of clothing and foodstuffs.

He also said that the committee did a great deal to disseminate Islamic education among families through the distribution of leaflets, cassettes and books.

He urged all donors to step up their contributions during. Ramadan, pointing out that the committee sent lorries to Jordan. Sudan and Afghanistan last year. as part of its external activity programme.

Donations

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Bayan and Mishrif charity committee, Saud Abdul Rahman Al Samakeh, said that the committee was established in 1982 and had been practising its activities from Maryam Al Sabah Mosque.

He said that the committee received donations daily between Maghreb and Isha prayers at Fatima Mosque in Bayan, and that all donations would be used to support charity welfare movements in and outside

King Fahd phones Arab leaders

RIYADH, April 22, (Kuna); King Fahd Bin Abdul Aziz of Saudi Arabia last night had telephoned conversations with two Arab monarchs and a head of state in what Radio Riyadh described as part of continuous consultations between the Saudi king and Arab leaders.

King Fahd initiated the calls with King Hassan of Morocco and Algerian President Chadli Bin Jedid. He was later reached over the telephone by King Hussein of Jordan.

The government-controlled Radio Riyadh said King Fahd discussed with the three Arab leaders "matters of interest to the Arab and Islamic world" and ways to strengthen fraternal ties between Arab countries. The broadcast gave no further

Defeat plagues Iranian rulers

DEFEAT and catastrophe continue to plague the Iranian rulers as they unwillingly submitted to Iraq's decision to stop the war of cities.

They are the aggressors, and even Russia, which has remained flexible with Iran, has given the impression in its latest communique that Iran should accept peace and stop disrupting world peace.

The impact of Iran's actions have been felt almost everywhere because some people benefitted from not imposing discipline on the Iranian political leadership. The Iraq-Iran war is not simply a war between two

The war between Iraq and Iran is a war of the whole world. This must be accepted by the superpowers. It is inaccurate to believe that this war is limited to one region. Its sparks are flying and they increase, but still Iran has not been dealt the blow that will awaken it. Perhaps what happened on the Faw peninsula and the"war of the cities" might have slightly awakened the Iranian leadership. It might have also awakened the the Iranian people to try the criminals of war who have mismanaged Iranian politics and have disrupted the whole world. The liberation of Faw, the latest American attacks, the failure of the Iranian agents, the hijackers, in the mission with the Kuwaiti airliner and the recent Soviet attitude toward the war of the cities should shake the Iranian

The Iranian leaders have cheated the Iranian people for eight years; lying to them and pushing them into a destructive war, claiming false victories.

The Iranian international position, in the face of these defeats and lies, is unable to continue as before, although it is terrorised by the regime.

The internal situation in Iran is on the verge of an explosion. It is ready to avenge the failures of its leadership, which is responsible for so many of Iran's catastro-

Japan's Red Army steps up activity

By K.P. Hong

TOKYO. (AP): Experts on Japan's terrorist Red Army said Saturday that the small but vicious leftist band is stepping up its activities with funds and supplies provided by radical leftist groups.

On Tuesday, police in the United States arrested a suspected member of the Red Army carrying three homemade hombs. In Italy, a well-known Red Army member is being sought on suspicion of planting a car bomb that killed an American servicewoman and four Italians in Naples on Thurs-

The Red Army was active in the 1970s after an estimated 30 members fled to the Middle East, calling it the centre of world revolution.

Their attacks included a massacre at Tel Aviv's Lod Airport in Israel in 1972 that left 28 people dead. Before last week's violence, the bank most recently claimed responsibility for bomb and rocket attacks on the US and British embassies in Rome.

No one was injured in those attacks, which took place in Rome on June 9, 1987 while the leaders of seven Western nations were holding their annual summit in Venice.

Attacks

Police officials would not comment on local news reports that the Red Army was feared to be planning attacks on the summit of the advanced industrial nations in Toronto in June and the Summer Olympic Games in Seoul in September.

But Akio Ohno, a veteran police critic, said the summit and the Olympic Games would be two possible targets.

"The Red Army has openly criticised the South Korean government for its pro-American stance, and it mainrains that its ultimate goal is a world revolution to destroy capitalism," Ohno said.

Ohno said the Red Army.is now believed to work with Arab leftists and is led by Fusako Shigenobu, a college dropout who once worked as a Tokyo bar hostess to raise Red Army funds.

Naples police said Saturday that Shigenobu is suspected of helping plant the bomb at the US club that killed five people Thursday. She also has been identified as a key figure in the Lod massacre.

Ohno said the arrest last fall of Osamu Maruoka, 37, who had been on the international wanted list for alleged involvement in the Lod massacre, was another indication the group might have planned attacks on South Korean targets, possibly includ-ing Olympic facilities, to dramatise its activity.

Maruoka, considered by police as the No. 2 Red Army leader, was arrested Nov 21 in Tokyo after arriving on a flight from Hong Kong with a false passport.

Subsequent police investiga-tions showed Maruoka had reserved a one-way ticket to Seoul the following month.

At Lod Airport on May 30, 1972, Kozo Okamoto, then 24, Tsuyoshi Okudaira; 26, and Yasuyuki Yasuda, 25, sprayed machine gun fire and hurled hand grenades into the airport's crowded luggage collection area.

In addition to 26 civilian victims, Okudaira and Yasuda were killed. Okamoto was seized by Israeli security officers.

Women pick up political mantle in South Asia several top women political leaders have emerged in this way: The late Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India, rivaled by few men anywhere in the world for iron will and her indelible stamp on her nation.

ing Societies. Matriarchy

"I think there is a very strong substrata of matriarchy in the society," he said. It is a cultural phenomenon that transcends the region's dominant religions: Hinduism in India, Buddhism in Sri Lanka and Islam in Pakistan and Bangladesh.

"Traditionally, in all these societies, feminity has been associated with activism and power," said Nandy, who trained as a clinical psychologist before entering political science. He noted that Hinduism's female deities invoke greater fear than male deities. Paintings of Krishna and other gods have a gentle, almost androgynous quality, while Kali, goddess of destruction, is drenched in blood with human heads handing from her waist - and is unmistakably

"The king of the gods is a man, but the crucial, powerful gods relevant to everyday life are women," Nandy said. "Pes-tilence, health, child care, fertility: these are goddesses."

Indira Gandhi, daughter of India's first prime minister, Jawaharial Nehru, was known as Bharat Mata" - mother of India. She was loved, hated, feared, but above all respected. She abolished the princely estates of the Maharajahs, intervened in Pakistsan's civil war to create the new nation of Bangladesh in 1971 and led India into the nuclear age. Mrs Gandhi was installed as prime minister in 1966 by men who thoght she would be pliable. She soon proved them wrong and stayed in office until a crushing election defeat in 1977 when democracy was restored after 20 months of heavy-handed emergency rule. But she rebounded back into office in 1980 and served four more years before she was assassinated by Sikh bodyguards. "I think being a woman in politics is an asset in India," said Maneka Gandhi, widow of Indira's younger son Sanjay and political foe of the older son, current Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

"We treat our country as very feminine - mother earth. Of course, I do tend to be patronised. But it's not because I'm a woman but because I'm 31," she

"I think most women in this part of the world come in politics because of family," Maneka said. "But whether they are successful or not really depends on their own qualities.

In Bangladesh, the two major opposition parties trying to force President Hussain Muhamad Ershad to resign are headed by women — Sheikh Hasina of the Awami League and Khaleda Zia of the Bangladesh Nationalist Hasina, daughter of assassin-Hasina, in an interview in the hosue where her father, mother and three brothers were gunned down in 1975, said she believed women leaders have strengths sometimes lacking in men.

They don't corrupt very quickly. They can sacrifice more. They are very organised. Women are mothers. They preserve. They nurse," said Hasina. 40year-old mother of two teenagers and wife of atomic scientist Wajed Miah.

The 43-year-old Mrs Zia. whose husband was killed in 1981, says she sees "no difference between men and women." But she added that if her husband had lived, "there would have been no need for me to be involved in politics."

Pakistan opposition leader Benazir Bhutto had brothers who also were active in politics, but Benazir emerged as the foremost heir of the Pakistan Peoples Party after the 1977 overthrow and subsequent execution of her father, Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto.

Returning home from self-imposed exile in 1986, Benazir was hailed by adoring masses who thought Bhutto's daughter would lead a "people's power" revolution — like the one ignited in the Philippines by President Corazon Aquino, widow of a

"I may by may personality overshadow many events." Benazir, 34, said in a recent interview with one of India's national newspapers, the Indian Express.

She also said that before she returned home, someone told her that politics was "a very dirty game" for a woman.

nuclear scientist

TAIPEI, Taiwan, (AP): The disappearance of a leading nuclear scientist has Taiwanese fuming at the United States and worrying about damage to their national security.

After Col Chang Hsien-Yi vanished in mid-January, newspapers carried unconfirmed reports that he worked for the US Central Intelligence Agency and might have turned over nuclear secrets to the Americans.

Chang was a deputy director of the official Institute of Nuclear Energy Research. He disappeared while on leave from his post. "We immediately looked at this map, maybe he fell off a cliff," said Liu Kuang-Chi, secretary-general of the government Atomic Energy Council, as he moved to an office wall map of Taiwan and traced a route along rugged interior roads. But several local newspapers provided a different scenario for Chang's disappearance, reporting that he was a CIA informant who left for the United States. with details about a Taiwanese nuclear weapons programme. A US State Department spokeswoman, Phyllis E. Oakley, said in Washington last month that the department had no comment on whether Chang was an informant for the United States. In Taipei, David Hess, spokesman for the American Institute of Taiwan, which oversees US interests here, has told the government and local media the institute has no idea of what happened to Chang. Taiwan officials have repeatedly denied plans to build a nuclear bomb. Communist China has said the production of atomic weapons by Taiwan would be reason to invade the island, which Beijing regards as a renegade province.

Nevertheless, the uproar over Chang has increased anti-US sentiment that already was brewing here because of Washington's tough trade talk with Taiwan, which last year had a record $16-billion trade surplus with the United States.

Although the United States in 1979 broke diplomatic relations with Taiwan and recognised the communist Chinese government. Washington remains the island's major trade partner and arms supplier. The American institute of Taiwan serves as an operative diplomatic and commercial link in the absence of an embassy.

"I get a lot of hot reaction from my students," said Su Chi, a ches at National Chengchi University. "Until this point there's always been a huge reservoir of goodwill toward the United States ... but I think the reservoir has cracked." The Taiwan media, which has given intense coverage to Chang's disappearnace, also has criticised the United States. A March 25 commentary in the mass-circulation China Times said that no matter what the motive, "the act of stealing our defence secrets has invaded our national sovereignty and res-involvement." But Jaw Shau-Kong, a maverick lawmaker from the governing Nationalist Party, is

The government "probably should expel some (US) diplomats from Taiwan, expel some CIA; it cannot keep silent," a Jaw, who views the United States as an imperialist nation. Jaw said he fears Chang took important military secrets, possibly classified information about Taiwan's missile development programme.

Liu, the nuclear energy official, noted that many of Chang's classmates worked on missile and airplane projects at the military-run Chungshan Institute of Science and Technology. The government maintains, however, Chang did not take any sensitive information from Chungshan. Liu believes the missing scientist did not have access to such secrets even though heknew of work done by the Nuclear Energy Research Centre staff for military-related Chungshan projects.

Professor Su believes Chang's disappearance is unlikely to cause a serious re-evaluation of Taiwanese-US relations but could eventually lead to public debate of the country's nuclear In early April, the mass-circulation United Daily News newspaper published a poll that indicated Taiwan was split over the development of nuclear demanding retaliatory action.

itting new notes on screen

By Robert Hall

THERE is only one thing a pop star likes to do more than sing and earn money ... and that's

They may have sold millions of records and have audiences of thousands at their concerts. but they will happily give it all up to get in front of the camera. And, as some of the world's most famous pop names have proved, it doesn't always result in the glittering success and fame they are used to.

Mick Jagger, David Bowie, Madonna, Sting, Diana Ross, David Essex and even Michael Jackson may be top of the pops, but their films have often left them top of the flops.

Only sensational Cher has made a really successful transition from singing to acting, closely followed by Barbra Streisand. Now they are as well known for starring in Hollywood as they are for singing the latest chart hit.

But that is certainly not the case for the majority of singers

For the trend, which was started by the Beatles with A Hard Day's Night, has now become an established step. Twenty years ago each profession was totally separate. Now they are almost impossible to tell apart.

Veteran rocker Mick Jagger has had several attempts at finding acclaim on the screen. So far though, with movies like Ned Kelly and Performance under his belt, he seems to have hit a wrong note. He will be trying not to repeat that record with his next offering which he is due to make with fellow popsters David Bowie and Tina Turner.

David Bowie and Mick Jagger have done it, so have Sting, Olivia Newton-John and David Essex. Barbra Streisand and Cher are well known for doing it. They are all singers who have turned to acting for a fresh challenge and a new career.

The film - according to Hollywood rumour --- will be called Rocket Men and Jagger and Bowie will both play nightclub owners.

A friend of Jagger's says: "Mick badly wants to be a top actor but his films have never really been a big success.

"David is constantly courted by top Hollywood directors. So Mick swallowed his pride and asked David to work with him. Tina is very close to them both so she was a natural choice."

According to Mick, he wanted to make another film with Bowie following the success of their Dancing in the Streets

He says: "David and I have written the script ourselves and now we're looking for the right director. We're both really pleased with it, and if it all goes according to plan, we should start filming sometime soon." Mick admits that since he made his film debut in Performance with James Fox 18 years aog, his acting career has been "rather erratic The trouble with films is that it is hard finding great projects to do. There's a lot of good actors who have to do rubbish. I'm happy with the way things turned out." David Bowie on the other hand, has enjoyed far greater success than his new acting partner. Early on his music and dress sense tended to limit his audience. But through acting tackling tough roles from the Elephant Man on Broadway to a POW in Merry Christmas Mr Lawrence, he showed he was more than one of the world's most wayout singers, and the amazing silvery figure in his debut movie The Man Who Fell to Earth.

Goody-goody beauty Olivia Newton-John, who sprang to Hollywood fame in the blockbuster movie Grease, found her road to further stardom a little slippery.

Along with John Travolta. she seemed to have the world at her feet after strutting and teasing her sexy stuff across the screen as Sandy.

In Grease alone she showed she could look like an angel and a siren.

But while Travolta went on to capture headlines as one of the few men - excluding Prince Charles - to dance with Princess' Dianna at a White House Banquet, Olivia's career went into an almost terminal Xanadu, her next musical movie bombed badly and her singing career seemed to waver too. Instead she began to concentrate on her private life and became a mother with the help of her 28-year-old husband Matt Lattanzi.

"When Two Of A Kind Olivia's second film with John Travolta) didn't work out l went to Australia," she says. "I really needed time to think about what was important to me. I decided I had let my career control my personal life. I'm not going to let that happen

Now Olivia, 38, is enjoying motherhood, happy in the knowledge that she need never sing OR act again, anyway. Superstar Barbara Streisand is famed for being the richest and most powerful entertainer in the world ... worth approximately 50 million pounds and another 20 million in real estate and antiques

At 45 she reigns over a phenomenal one-woman empire as a singer, actress, writer, producer and director, keeping a pretty sharp eye on the petty cash. Professionally, as her hit album proved, she is an indestructable as ever ... well almost.

Even Barbara, with smash movies Hello Dolly, Funny Girl with Ryan O'Neal, and The Way We Were behind her isn't infallible. Her one, all-consum-ing passion in life had been tomake and star in the film. Yenti. She did and it was a box office failure. It is perhaps the only blot on her otherwise impressive copybook.

Now she is the producer and star of the film Nuts, co-starring Richard Dreyfuss, in which she plays a prostitute.

Then she plans to film the play The Hasty Heart which deals with the problem of AIDS.

Indeed, with an Oscar and a Tony, a Grammy and an Emmy it is hard to know which came first for Barbara ... singing or

That's certainly not a problem with Cher. First she was Cher the singer the other half of the singing partnership Sonny and Cher with hits like Little Man, I Got You Babe and All I Need Is Then, with films like Silkwood, Mask and The Witches of Eastwick, it was Cher the actress. Now she has a new film out called Suspect and the adventure comedy Moonstruck, in which she plays what she describes as a "grown up Cinderella.

Money has never been a problem for either Michael Jackson or Diana Ross. But finding success on screen certainly has.

Wacko Jacko has probably come closest, thanks to the amazing dance routines and special effects that he uses for his pop videos. In his big screen performance in The Wiz, however, there was little evidence of the Jackson magic. Lovely Diana Ross - who definitely has the looks to make it as an actress — has had two attempts. First she starred in the moderately successful Lady Sings The Blues, then in Mahogany. Now she seems to have retired to singing.

Pop queen Madonna has enjoyed a little more success with heracting. When she made her debut in Desperately Seeking Susan, she was hailed as one of Hollywood's greatest new talents. With Who's That Girl and Shanghai Surprise quickly following, enthusiasm in her performances waned.

A similar fate seemed to befall rocker David Essex. The heart-throb sprang to the public's attention with films such as That'll Be The Day and Stardust in the early seventies. He was dubbed the latest sex symbol and was mobbed by thousands of girls.

These days he is working on different kinds of projects after playing Mr Christian in a London stage production of Muttiny On the Bounty to lukewarm reviews. Since 1979 Sting, the former lead singer with the Police and now enjoying a successful solo career - has had varied acting experience. He explains: "It was never my ambition, or even my wildest fantasy to become an actor. I fell into it by accident but, having got into it, I'm the sort of person who likes to excel at what I do.' Sting's first wife, Frances

Tomelty, persuaded him to audition for the Ace Face in Franc Roddam's Quadrophenia. From then on he was hooked.

In the same year, he landed a part in Radio On and subsequently appeared in films including Brimstone and Treacle. Dune. The Bride and, with Meryl Streep and Charles Dance, the much-praised

He adds: "When you've worked with Denholm Elliot, Joan Plowright and Meryl Streep that's the best training available. I've learned to act with the spotlight full on, and if I hadn't been adequate I'd have been eaten alive by those peo-

"I'd like to see myself take more chances, but it is a very difficult leap to take. The acting world doesn't want you to do it. So you end up suspended above this chasm of disapproval. I'm trying to span it.'

So, it seems, are many other rock stars.

Rock star Sting in Brimstone and Treacle. He has worked with Meryl Streep in Plenty.

drew Gabrilovitch of Vienna, Va. North-South would have done better to double two hearts, but North could not know that. In the partnership methods, his jump to three no trump denied a heart stopper.

West led his fourth-best heart, and dummy's ten won the trick as 43 Pencil's adjunct East signalled in clubs. Obviously, the diamond suit would have to be developed if declarer was going to make his contract, so he continued with a diamond to the ace and a diamond back, noting with interest that West produced the ten on the first round of the suit.

West found the best defense, shifting to the queen of clubs. Declarer held up the ace for one round, then won the club continuation. A 4-2 diamond break was more likely than an even split, and West's ten on the first round of the suit strengthened that probability. Unless he was being rather brilliant by dropping the ten from a holding of K-10-x, the specific combination of K-J-10 was more odds-against than K-10 doubleton. Declarer, therefore, went for the endplay.

He came to hand with a high spade and led the king of hearts. West ducked (winning would have made no difference), and East had to let go of a black card to keep his diamond guard. Now declarer cashed his remaining high spades and then threw East in with a club. At the end, East had to lead away from his J-7 of diamonds into dummy's Q-9 tenace. That permitted declarer to get home with three spade tricks, two hearts, three diamond tricks and a club.

Rumour — factories work overtime in filmland

Any news is good news in Bollywood business seem to be experts at getting into the news by hook or crook. First they talk about others and in turn they get talked-about. The print media then steps in to carry the opinions or happenings far and wide. Whether it is the truth, falsehood or half-truth, it doesn't seem to matter, as long as it's news. Here are some of the juicier rumours from Boll-/wood.

The wildest of the rumours pertain to Tinnu Anand. Now that Shahenshah has flopped and received brickbats for being a stale salad, Tinnu has been accused of deliberately making a bad film.

The story goes that he was handsomely enriched by the opposition parties to make a rotten film around a silly character, so that Amitabh's political image would crash and his public popularity would nose-dive. Well, all we can say is that Tinnu sure knows which side his bread is buttered and he prefers it on both sides!

Young, busy but sick-looking Govinda has dropped a bomb-shell by saying that Neelam is like his daughter. The two were supposed to be having a roaring affair. Why then this paternal affection? Obviously to hit the headlines and get quoted even in non-film magazines. Moreover he has other axes to grind with other heroines. And he can't openly ditch his first betrothed-cum-beloved Sunita. It would be bad for his image among female fans. Remember how Gaurav

Anil Kapoor has made a sensation not by signing more films but by giving up films and returning the money. He says that he wants to relax and do a few good films. Amrita Singh can be blunt with anyone, even Amitabh Bachchan. Some time back she had the word spread around that she snubbed Bachchan who sent her a bouquet and wanted to visit her flat. But she is still doing many films with him. Now she claims that she can puncture Bachchan's ego. When he told her that a festival of their films including Mard was going to be held in a foreign country, she retorted with the wise-crack that it must be a children's festival. What we think is that Amrita is just putting up a false bold front and Amitabh is allowing her to be "democratic," because he finds Meenakshi too dull and timid. Sai Paranjape has. again pet daughter Winnie into the project? Winnie is so desperate for attention that she posed almost semi-nude for the cover of an annual glossy. Tut tut. That's no way for a mother to make her girl a heroine.

Talking of Dimple, she talks these days of only one topic, that her new relationship with Rajesh Khanna is just professional. But how professional can you be with a man, when you stay for hours in his house, as well? On the other hand Rekha these days thinks less of her man, the one and only one she married in her thoughts. She is busy mothering younger heroines like Mandakini and Farha. She makes people wonder how two cats can really hug each other. Meanwhile, she has a side-line friendship with the fair, tall and handsome Aaditya Pancholi, This has given a ready made excuse to Zarina Wahab, who herself makes people talk, by saying that her young husband

Aaditya quarrels with her and heats her up every day. Poor Zarina, that's no way to get sympathy and some small roles from producers. As for the Press, Zarina gives another noble line that she does not mind the affair, because the other woman is one of the best. Quite a compliment for Rekha to publicise Pran is being fast superceded as a villian by younger actors. So the best way to draw atten-tion to himself is to praise the others. Statements by other film folk are equally astounding.

The young and sexy actor Chunky claims that he has a right to flirt with every heroine. old or young, whether it is Hema Malini or Sangeeta Bijlani. All that we can say is: "Young man, you have still to meet your match."

Suresh Oberoi says that after Kaal-Chakra he has become a super hero, i.e. a non-hero who is better than the hero, and that people rush to him for autographs even if Dharmendra or Jeetendra are around. Raj Babbar, meanwhile, has dropped the clanger that the "Hope 77" show was like bartering the industry for private benefits.

Amala's debacle with Surendra Mohan's film (her first in Bombay) brought her a bad name. So she promptly stated that there was no bad blood between them and that they had parted amicably. What she did not reveal was the real reason she left the film. It was because, the hero was the flop actor Sumeet Saigal. Obviously she wants to star with a bigger name and banner. But the story is somewhat different ... a village yokel rescuing a city girl from her bad husband. Someone discovered that Daka Kondke's Aage Ki Soch has a similar story. This at once became an excellent opportunity for both to be in the public eye. A mock fight was raked up and the two began to threaten each other. Actually the set-ups of the two films, one a comedy and the other a melodrama, make them

"divine" creature who will realise it. (Earlier, Rekha was the heavenly angel, who was quickly forgotten).

Nobody can beat Farha in being sensational and jumping into the limelight. Her karate threats to different heroes are as explosive as paper bags. Recently, she was caught on the wrong foot, praising Jackie Shroff in one place and condemning him in another. This followed the gossip about Jackie molesting her sister Tab-boo. But Farha could not make a straight attack, since she was herself said it be involved with Jackie, during an outdoor shooting in a foreign country. On the other hand, Divya Rana's career was going so badly that she thought the best publicity was marriage to a rich businessman.

Shabana Azmi has thrown a missile by saying that the Indian Press has lost its credibility. The journalists are questioning the same in Shabana. She was at one time attacking Amitbh regularly for his role in political scandals but now she does not say a word, as she is doing a film with him.

Now Shabana is criticising Nasreeruddin for saying on TV that doing art films was a waste of time. Even Shabana's latest successor Deepa Sahi has said that she is fed up with looking intense on the screen and would like to do a variety of roles, meaning commercial films. Jaya Prada's recent scoop was to kiss Amitabh (on the cheek only). She was thus proving that she was one up on Sri Devi who does not like to work with Amit, as the heroine has nothing much to do in his films. Jaya says her own roles with Amit are quite powerful. Lastly, there are the stars who remain in the news with the trick of "to be or not to be." For example, Poonam Dhillon keeps everyone in suspense about whether she will get married on not to producer Thakeria Raj Babbar poses the great riddle as to whether he will or will not join V.P. US industry operated at 82.3pc of capacity in March

WASHINGTON, April 22, (AP): US industry operated at 82.3 per cent of capacity in March, the second consecutive monthly lecline, the government reported yesterday.

The Federal Reserve Board said that US factories, mines and utilities saw their operating rate drop by 0.1 percentage point from February. It was the second monthly decline following a 0.2 per cent point dip in February to an operating rate of 82.4 per cent, down from 82.6 per cent in January. Analysts said the setbacks had been expected, given the fact that certain factories, in particular the auto industry, cut back on production during the first three months of the year in order to reduce high backlogs of unsold goods. The operating rate for manufacturing plants edged down to 82.5 per cent in March, compared to 82.6 per cent in February. Production of durable goods, items expected tolast three or more years, rose slightly to 80.2 per cent of capacity, up 0.1 percentage point from February, while production of non-durable goods dipped 0.3 percentage point to 85.9 per cent of capacity.

The mining industry, which includes oil and gas drilling, saw capacity climb to 80.3 per cent last month, up from 79.8 per cent in February, while production at electric and gas utilities edged down 0.1 per cent to 81.8 per cent.

The various changes left the overall operating rate up 0.6 percentage point from a year ago, reflecting the fact that American industry has benefitted from strong demand for exports over the last year.

World's largest cruise ship to be built in Belfast

LONDON, April 22, (Reuter): The world's largest cruise ship, double the size of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II luxury liner, will be built in Northern Ireland for an Indian-born shipping magnate, a Belfast shippard said today. Harland and Wolff Shippard said it had signed an agreement with shipowner Ravi Tikoo's Bahamasbased Tikko Cruise Line and expected a final contract for the £240 million ($454 million) project to be signed by September. The 1.132-foot (354-metre) vessel, codenamed "ultimate dream" will carry more than 3,000 passengers in 1,500 hotel-styled rooms, each with its own balcony. the shipyard said. "It ... heralds a new era in cruise ship design," Harland and Wolff chairman and executive director John Parker told reporters. Plans call for the 160,000 gross registered ton cruise liner to be delivered in 1992. The Norway, 70,200 gross registered tons and 1,035 feet (316 metres) long, is the largest passenger liner ever built.

Britain's largest cruise ship is the Queen Elizabeth II, at 67,140 gross registered tons and 963 feet (293 metres) in length. Parker said the project would create thousands of jobs in Belfast and provide work for subcontractors across Britain at a time of gloomy forecasts for the national ship-building industry. Last year, Harland and Wolff had losses of £58 million ($110 million).

Porsche to cut staff by 1,000

FRANKFURT, West Germany, April 22, (AP): Porsche AG of West Germany, suffering plummeting sales overseas, plans to reduce it staff by about 1,000 people, or by 11.6 per cent, in the next 15 months, the company said yesterday. The West German maker of huxury sports cars said the staff cuts will be made through attrition, early retirement and other measures. As of Jaimary 31, 1988, the company employed 8,606 people, most of whom worked short shifts in January, the company said in a statement. Porsche resorted to shorter work weeks after the car output at its Zuffenhausen facility in southern West Germany, near Stuttgart. Also as part of its austerity moves late last year, the company decided to cut production it had contracted out to Audi AG's Neckarsulm plant, which is also located in southern West Germany, In the fiscal year that will end July 31, Porsche plans to produce about 33,000 cars, down from 50,715 cars produced in the previous fiscal year. In the first half of this business year, Porsche's worldwide sales fell 15 per cent to 1.46 billion marks ($884.8 million) from 1.71 billion marks (1.03 billion) in the previous year.

The official press this week reported widespread panic buying of washing powder, soap, towels, blankets and rice by consumers fearful of rising prices.

closest measure of inflation, rose 7.3 per cent last year over 1986. It climbed 11 per cent in the first quarter of this year, reaching 13.4 per cent in major cities. But interest on a one-year bank deposit pays only six per cent. Economists said that waste and extravagance, mainly by state organisations, are partly to blame for the steep rise in prices.

Move to implement a series of economic reforms Brazil to sign agreement with IMF

BRASILIA, April 22, (Reuter); Brazil will sign an agreement with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) in June to implement a series of economic reforms in return for emergency financial assistance, a senior government official said yesterday.

The official, who briefed foreign correspondents on con-dition he not be identified, did not specify the amount of the loan, but finance ministry officials have said that Brazil, the World's biggest debtor, is seeking $700 million from the IMF.

The step envisaged in June is the signing of a "letter of intent" which would commit Brazil to take austerity measures, probably including deep cuts in govern bly including deep cuts in gover-nment spending and curbs on money-supply growth, in exchange for IMF money.

The IMF accord would set the seal on Brazil's return to an orth-odox debt strategy after the har-dline stance which Brasilia adop-ted from 1985 to 1987.

Agreement During this period, when Dilson Funro was Finance Minister.
Brazil refused to make any accords with the IMF. The accords with the IMF. The government of President Jose Sarney argued that IMF policies brought recession and this was uncceptable to Brazil.

Policy began to shift a year ago when Luiz Carlos Bresser Pereira took over the finance ministry. Since the arrival of career civil servant Mailson Nobrega at the ministry this January, an agreement with the IMF has been a top priority.

The official declined to give details of the IMF conditions that Brazil would have to accept.

At the end of the period of military rule (1964-85), Brazil failed time and again to meet the economic targets laid down in IMF accords and signed no fewer than seven letters of intent. Political analysts said that since then the IMF had become more wary of Brazil. Official sources said one central issue was the country's budget deficit, which last year rea-ched 5.5 per cent of the gross domestic product (GDP) of $313 billion, according to the Central

Deficit

The sources said the IMF wanted Brazil to cut the deficit considerably in contracts last year, the IMF suggested that Brazil should aim to reduce its deficit to zero by 1988. Officials say that such a target is not feasible now.

Officials said debt negotiator Antonio Padua de Seixas and his effective number two, Sergio Amaral, would travel to the United States on Sunday 10 resume debt negotiations with private creditors. They would also negotiate with the IMF. Brazil's bank creditors, who are owed $76 billion, have consistently urged Brasilia to reach an accord with the IMF if it wants easier debt terms from bankers. The country's total foreign debt reached $121.3 billion by the end of last year, up from $111 billion in December 1986, the central bank on Tuesday.

LONDON, APRIL 22, REUTER - MONEY MARKET INTEREST RATES WERE AS MUCH AS 1/4 POINT HIGHER IN LATE TRADING AFTER A NERVOUS DAY. WHICH INJECTED FURTHER UNCERTAINTY OVER WHETHER U.K. BASE RATES CAN FALL FURTHER IN THE SHORT TERM, DEALERS SAID. TRADERS SAID THE RISE IN CASH RATES WAS LED BY A SHARP

MORNING SELL-OFF IN THE SHORT STERLING FUTURE, WHICH STOOD OVER 25 BASIS POINTS BELOW YESTERDAY'S CLOSE ON HEAVY VOLUME. STERLING CONTINUED AROUND 3.16 MARKS BUT THE FEELING CONTINUED THAT IT COULD MOVE HIGHER TO APPROACH 3.20. THE IDEA THAT THE AUTHORITIES ARE MORE LIKELY TO TOLERATE THIS THAN SANCTION LOWER INTEREST RATES IS ALSO GROWING, HOWEVER.

New York, April 22, Reuter — Wall Street stocks held early gains on another burst of futures-related buying, brokers said. Programme buying and selling took the market on a wild ride yesterday. Buying today followed a rise in bonds on a report of unchanged durable goods orders when a gain was The Dow 30 was up 12 at about 2000 and gaining issues led decliners by a moderate margin. Active issues included Citicorp, ahead 1/4 to 20-1/8 and Tandy, up 1/8 at 46-1/8 after a jump of 2-5/8 yesterday. Tandy unveiled yesterday the first erasable compact disc.

TOKYO STOCKS CLOSE MIXED IN LACKLUSTRE TRADE TOKYO, APRIL 22, REUTER - SHARE PRICES CLOSED MIXED DUE TO SOME INTEREST IN CONSUMER DEMAND-RELATED SHARES, WHICH WAS COUNTERED BY PROFIT-TAKING, BROKERS SAID.

FACTORS HAS PREVENTED ACTIVE BUYING. "THE INTEREST RATE SITUATION IN THE U.S. IS UNSETTLING," SAID A BROKER AT A MAJOR SECURITIES HOUSES. "AND THE MARKET HERE IS LOOKING FOR A THEME, WONDERING WHERE IT SHOULD GO."

A RECENTLY WOBSLY WALL STREET AND A LACK OF FRESH POSITIVE

THE NIKKEI INDEX FIRMED 8.96 POINTS, OR 0.03 PCT, TO 26,837.12. IT SHED 35.93 POINTS ON THURSDAY. RISES ALMOST MATCHED FALLS IN TURNOVER OF 700 MLN SHARES AGAINST 650 MLN. CONMUNICATIONS, RETAIL, CREDIT/LEASE, SERVICE, ROLLING STOCK, NON-FERROUS METAL, AUTO, TRADING COMPANY, ELECTRICAL

AND SOME MANUFACTURING ISSUES LED THE ADVANCE. BANK, SECURITIES HOUSE, WAREHOUSE, HINING, PHARMACEUTICAL, CONSTRUCTION AND OIL AND AIRLINE SHARES DECLINED. WHILE A REASONABLY STABLE WALL STREET OVERNIGHT OFFERED SOME SOLACE TO JITTERY INVESTORS, A LACK OF MARKET-MOVING NEWS FROM ABROAD AND WITHIN JAPAN HAS KEPT TRADE SUBDUED.

SOME BUYING OF BLUE CHIPS WAS SPARKED BY LATE AFTERNOON DOLLAR STRENGTH, BUT THIS DID NOT LIFT SENTIMENT ENOUGH TO BROADLY BOOST THE MARKET, BROKERS SAID.

THE DOLLAR FIRMED ON NEWS THAT 13 U.S. WARSHIPS WERE LEAVING FOR THE GULF ON ROTATION DUTY, LEADING TO SPECULATION THE FLEET THERE WOULD BE INCREASED, AND ON TALK OF A CLASH ON THE KOREAN BORDER. NORTH KOREA ACCUSED THE SOUTH OF AN ATTACK ON A BORDER POST, BUT THE UNITED NATIONS DENIED THE CHARGE. BULLISHNESS HERE IS PREVENTING LARGE-SCALE SHARE SELLING BUT THERE ARE ALSO FEW APPARENT REASONS FOR INVESTORS TO TAKE

MAJOR POSITIONS, BROKERS SAID. (IN FIRST PARA, MAKES CLEAR THAT THE SHIPS ARE MOVING TO THE GULF ON A ROTATIONAL BASIS, AND THAT IT IS NOT CERTAIN WHETHER THE SHIFT INDICATES AN INCREASE IN THE U.S. FLEET).

Hong Kong Market Report

HONG KONG, APRIL 22, REUTER - SHARE PRICES CLOSED AT THE DAY'S HIGHEST LEVELS ON LATE LOCAL BUYING, BROKERS SAID. THE HANG SENG INDEX ENDED THE DAY 38.64 POINTS HIGHER AT 2,591.35 AFTER FALLING SIX POINTS IN THE EARLY AFTERNOON. THE HONG KONG INDEX ROSE 26.85 TO 1,705.44. TURNOVER WAS 760.91 MLN H.K. DLRS AGAINST 749.66 MLN ON THURSDAY.

"MOST OF THE BIGH LOCAL INVESTORS CAME OUT TO SUPPORT THE MARKET TOWARDS THE CLOSE," A BROKER FROM A U.K. HOUSE SAID. "BUT OVERSEAS INSTITUTIONS ARE STILL CAUTIOUS, PREFERRING TO WAIT FOR CLEARER DIRECTION FROM WALL STREET," HE ADDED.

KD deposit rates ease

FIXED-period Kuwaiti dinar deposit rates eased on Thursday as monthly salaries began to enter the system.

But dealers said the short dates remained firm as some banks covered short positions.

The Central Bank offered to buy and sell Treasury bills on the secondary market but there were few or no deals.

In active trading, overnight dealt at five per cent and 6-1/2 per cent from one per cent on Wednesday, while tomorrow and spot-next business was at five per cent, near Wednesday levels. One-week was quiet at six, five per cent. The one-month was quoted as high as six, 5-3,4 per cent early in the day but slipped to 5-5/8, 1/4 per cent after salary payments boosted liquidity.

Other maturities were up to 1/ 4 point below Wednesday rates at 5-3/4, 1/2 per cent for the three and six-month and 5-7/8, 5/8 per cent for the one-year.

The Central Bank adjusted its dinar exchange rate softer to 0.27321/31 to the dollar from Wednesday's 0.27291/301. Commercial banks quoted spot rates of around 0.27330/38.

Meanwhile, Saudi riyal interbank deposit rates rose in moderate trade after tight liquidity caused a scramble for funds late on Wednesday, dealers said.

Petroleum exploration drive planned

HOUSTON, April 22. (UPI): Affiliates of Conoco and Nippon Mining Co. Lt. of Tokyo yesterday announced a petroleum exploration programme involving 10 contract areas in six coun-

Nippon Mining affiliates plan to contribute more than $40 million during the next three years to ventures operated by Conoco affiliates in Egypt. France, Indonesia, Ireland, Tunisia and Somalia.

Eleven other oil companies hold various interests in the con-

Total spending on the ventures during three-year period is estimated at $140 million, said Sondra Fowler, Conoco public relations spokeswoman. Conoco and Nippon also tentatively agreed for their affiliates to pursue exploration ventures in other areas, including Spain and Angola. Agreements are expec-ted in additional areas soon, Fowler said. 'This arrangement is a substantial step toward achievement of Conoco's and Nippon Mining company's respective corporate goals," said Max G. Pitcher, Conoco vice president of international exploration.

Two years ago, Conoco and Nippon approved an exploration partnership within the United States that included drilling in five states and the Gulf of

"In our new international venture, we will be further strengthening the favourable relations with Conoco that have been established by mutual understanding in the successful joint North American operations, said Takashi Sakamoto, managing director of Nippon Mining.

Gold prices ease

Dollar edges ahead, stocks mixed

LONDON, April 22, (Reuter): The dollar edged higher in Europe today after gains in Asia and New York while stocks were mixed in the absence of any fresh direction from Wall Street or Tokyo, dealers said.

Oil prices firmed about 10 cents from yesterday's levels with British Brent crude at $17.30 a barrel for June loading ahead of an Opec minister's meeting in Vienna next Thursday.

Gold was fixed in London this morning at $453.15 an ounce, $1.10 down on the last fix.

The dollar's rise in Tokyo was helped by a North Korean allegation that South Korea had attacked and destroyed one of its border posts. A United Nations command spokesman in South Korea dismissed reports of the clash as a"total fabrication" but speculators in Tokyo seized on the news as an excuse to buy dollars, thus pushing up the value of the US currency.

Dealers said speculators seized on the news as an excuse to push the dollar up, but selling soon started, limiting its advance.

The currency ended the day at 124.65 ven and 1.6695/05 West German marks against New York's yesterday's close of 124.35 yen. "Trading had been boring in the absence of fresh factors during the morning so some speculators tried to push the dollar up on the news and rumours, using them as an excuse," said a dealer at a US

But dealers said the dollar's rise seemed temporary. Financial analysis in Europe said the report along with Gulf tensions could help push the dollar higher.

Operators want to have enough dollars in case the currency is boosted by developments in the Gulf, said Manfred Totzauer, chief dollar-mark trader at Citibank in Frankfurt. The market was waiting for release of figures on US durable goods orders at 1230 GMT but dealers said they did not expect the data to put much life into the

The dollar started in London at about 1.6690 West German marks, slightly firmer on yesterday's close of 1.6640.

Attention was on the pound sterling which has climbed on investors' belief that British interest ratés will remain high. The pound opened in London just over 3.16 marks from yesterday's close of 3.1572, but slipped back to trade just below 3.15 by late morning.

Action Shares on the London stock exchange fell in morning trading after opening easier. At midday the 100-share FTSE index was down 17.5 points at 1.774.4.

Much of the takeover talk which helped to support the London market earlier this week has cooled as have investors hopes for a cut in British base lending

In Frankfurt, dealers expected little action on the stock market where shares opened mixed in thin trading.

"It looks like being a typical Friday market," one West Ger-man dealer said. "I don't expect anything to happen at all." French blue chip shares economic slowdown and seemingly endless negotiations over report said. Latin America's massive debt. officials from 40 countries began talks on Wednesday to seek ways out of the region's economic morass. But diplomatic sources close to the meeting of the United Nations's Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean (Eclac) said prospects for the future were gloomy.

"The commission's scenario for the next four years is one of little growth and more debt for the countries least able to support it," said a diplomatic source close to the meeting.

Technical-level meetings began in a Rio beachside hotel but Eclac's 22nd ordinary conference will not move into full swing until Monday when many of the region's economy and foreign ministers join it.

Eclac officials set the tone for the meeting two months ago when they issued a report saying development was being strangled by capital flight, concentra-tion of wealth in a few hands and crushing foreign debt.

Long-term prospects were hardly better, the report said.

"Even if the transfer of financial resources aboard were halted .. the development prospects for the vast majority of countries in the region ... would still be rather bleak," the report said.

Consequences It said that despite a flowering of democracy in much of the region that has given the poor a bigger say in government, there was little to suggest any improvement in the desperate poverty in which millions of Latin Americans live.

To remind them of the region's gross inequalities, delegates to the meeting need only look out

"The painful consequences of the crisis, the magnitude and reach of which would have been unimaginable only a few years ago, could continue over time and, in some cases, even get worse," the report said.

The report also outlined a series of "options open to creditors and debtors" for resolving the debt crisis, including joint action by creditor governments and banks to cut interest rates. Thirty-three Latin and Caribbean nations speaking five lan-guages, plus the United States and six other industrialised countries including Britain, are scheduled to send delegations to the Eclac meeting.

Diplomatic sources said the conference should get a political charge at ministerial-level meetings next week, particularly when Cuban Vice-President Carlos Rafael Rodriguez is scheduled to address the delegates on Monday.

Indonesia expects Opec pact with non-Opec producers

Kartasasmita sees hope for price stability

JAKARTA, April 22, (Reuter): Indonesia expects Opec will reach agreement with major producers outside the organisation to stabilise oil prices over the long term, Mines and Energy Minister Ginanjar Kartasasmita said yesterday.

"We expect an agreement can be reached. But even without one, I do not think it will greatly affect oil prices," Ginanjar said after meeting President Suharto.

Indonesia is a member of the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries' five-man pricing committee that will consult officials of six oil producers outside the organisation in Vienna on Tuesday on ways to curb output. A full Opec con-ference will follow on Thursday.

Ginaniar said his predecessor Subroto, a 10-year veteran of Opec meetings, will accompany him to Vienna.

He dismissed the possibility of a price war if the meetings end in failure. "None of them wants to sell their oil at $10 a barrel, so I don't think a price war will hap-

Ginanjar said he would put forward a plan on how to reduce world oil production by 700,000

"I think if non-Opec producers return to their earlier output level as they had promised there will be a reduction of 400,000 barrels a day (bpd). And if those Opec members which are overproducing stick to their quotas there will be a reduction of 300,000 bpd," he

"If all steps have been taken and we still cannot push up oil prices, we can discuss it again. I believe prices will surely reach $18 again with the 700,000 bpd reduction," he said.

fran's Deputy Oil Minister Hossein Kazempour Ardebili told Reuters after meeting Ginanjar that Opec does not need to make any changes in its overall output ceiling or quotas among members at next week's extraordinary Opec meeting.

"Maybe at this juncture it is not a question of the ceiling of the production and the quotas among the member countries,' Ardebili said.

Later in June when there is the ordinary (Opec) meeting the question of the ceiling and the quota will be discussed," he said. Output Ardebili had earlier argued for output cuts of five to 10 per cent after flying to Vienna for a surprise appearance at a meeting of the pricing panel on April 9. Opec has set an overall ceiling 12 of its 13 members. Iraq has refused to accept its quota.

"We like to see the prices today immediately restored to $18 and we will work out a mechanism so that prices will not fall in the future," he said.

"Then in June during the ordinary meeting of the Opec we have to formulate (a strategy) for the gradual increase of oil prices," Ardebili said.

Opec's reference price of $18 a barrel "is the minimum that we can achieve immediately, which we almost (have) and later we have to gradually increase this price," he said.

Foreign banks in India shy away from term loans

This is the second part of the article "Government to strengthen capital base." The first part appeared in the Arab Times on April 21-22.

While the highest ratio is 0.31 in the case of Central Bank of India, among foreign banks, American Express (Indian branches) recorded 3.8 per cent (See Viewed against another yardstick of returns of equity, Indian banks are nowhere near their foreign counterparts. The nationalised banks' group has posted a net profit of Rs 151 crores on owned funds base of Rs 1,460 crores giving a return of around 10 per cent.

In the case of foreign banks, the ratio of Indian branch profit to Indian equity is a whopping 150 per cent. In the case of Standard Chartered Bank, the return of Indian equity is an incredible 400 per cent.

Profitability

In the Indian banks' context, this ratio may be irrelevant but the profit is still relevant. Profitability is not anathema to social orientation.

Indian branches of five foreign banks with an Indian equity investment of Rs 35 crores have remitted more than Rs 40 crores in just two years (1985 & 1986). This is besides other remittances to their parent organisation by way of head office overheads,

This is not to suggest restrictions on the normal accepted business activity of foreign banks. Such an action would only invite retaliatory action by foreign governments. Resource mix

Major factors which contribute to the profitability of foreign banks are: The deposit mix of the foreign banks is low-cost-oriented. Against nationalised banks' share of 17 per cent, non-interest earing current account deposits account for as high as 25 to 35 per cent. The share of high-cost term deposits is only 52 per cent against 59 per cent in the case of nationalised banks. High balances, besides providing cheap source, also lend a fair degree of less yield, less flexibility and very slow turnaround. The high level of term loans renders it difficult for the shift in portfolios. Foreign banks generally shy away from term loans while Indian ones are obliged to extend term loans and that too at

In this context, non-fund low rates of returns to the priority sector. While the ratio of term loans is estimated to be less than five per cent in the case of foreign banks, the ratio is as high as 29 per cent in the case of Indian banks. A secondary market for term loans exists in the foreign countries and ratio of 12 per cent (approximately) which is mainly on this provides an easy exit route to foreign banks elsewhere bedaccount of handling government willed by blockade of funds. Massive The nationwide massive network of Indian branches makes compliance with SLR/CRR difficult. The present guidelines require maintenance of liquid and approved assets on a daily basis. Poor information systems and unwieldy branch network makes it impossible for the banks to ascertain demand and time liabilities with a fair degree of accurancy. Given the high level of penalties for non-compliance, performance of the banks in maintenace of SLR/CRR significantly influences the level of profit. Unable to collate demand and time liabilities, many Indian banks find themselves either defaulting in maintenance of SLR/CRR or nursing substantial idle funds. Monitoring the compliance with SLR/CRR has become a major pre-occupation with senior executives of banks.

Small network of branches give foreign banks better manoeuvrability of liquid assets profitably. Through overseas connections they are able to garner substantial FCNR/NRE deposits which attract less CRR obligations and enable them to retain more lendable funds.

This segment of deposits also provides substantial benefit by way of exchange profit.

Unlike in the West, banks in India are permitted to undertake both commercial and investment banking activities, without any restrictions. Foreign banks have exploited

AUSTIN, Texas, April 22, (Reuter): The Texas Railroad Commisison, watchdog of the state's oil business, is seeking a role in an Opec-led drive to cut world oil production and lift petroleum prices.

A TRC representative plans to attend a conference with Opec and non-Opec producers next week in Vienna hoping to stabil-ise energy prices and end his state's economic traumas.

"Texas banking and real estate are in terrible shape and I don't see anything on the horizonthat's going to turn our economy around until the base turns around and that base is energy," TRC commissioner Kent Hance told Reuters.

Historically, from 1933 to 1973, the TRC, through conservation practices, in effect set world oil prices." Hance said in an interview. "Then Opec got in , the driver's seat, and we've seen wild fluctuations since them. Initiative

Earlier this month, Hance flew to London and met for 2-1/2 hours with Rilwanu Lukman of Nigeria, president of the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries. He said he expects to meet Opec officials in Vienna

An Opec spokesman in Vienna said Hance was not formally invited and was coming to the meeting on his own initiative. Opec has invited seven non-

Opec members — Angola, China, Colombia, Egypt. Malaysia, Mexico and Oman to the meeting. So far, Egypt and Mexico have accepted, while Colombia has declined to attend. Norway will send an observer but was not invited.

Hance said he was uncertain whether he would be given sters to present his own ideas. There is a possibility we will be allowed to sit in on (Opec) meetings and make a presentation, he said. Opec representatives will meet non-Opec officials on April 26 and 27 and Opec itself will meet

April 28:

Help

"I think they are looking for some help," said Hance. While the Railroad Commission in effect set world oil prices, it did a good job and consumers and producers were well served."

Hance declined to discuss any specific proposals he might make. There have been reprots the TRC might offer to cut back oil production in Texas, but the oil firms are not expected to welcome such a move and the US. Department of Energy has said that helping Open Servil prices was not the correct approach.

Reggie Bashur, a spokesman for Texas governor Bill Clements, told Reuters that limiting production in some way is one option. 'It's one the governor is reviewing," he said.

influence

Opec was formed by Venezuelan Oil Minsiter Juan Pablo Perez Alfonso, who in the 1940s had studied the TRC and its influence on world oil prices. Opec was set up in 1960 when Perez Alfonso won the cooperation of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Iran and Iraq.

The organisation's early efforts to control prices through output failed and the organisation began to set prices directly. In contrast, the TRC set world prices indirectly for four decades by limiting monthly production of each Texan oil well.

By setting production, they set the price, TRC spokesman Brian Schaible told Reuters. "The state legislature got us into the regulation business, specifying we were to limit production in order to limit waste.' The TRC, set up in 1891 to regulate freight rates on the state's Railroads, wharves and terminals, started limited regulation of oil and gas production in the 1920s. Its powers were expanded during the great depression. when overproduction drove prices below 10 cents a barrel.

Fast With wooden drilling rigs often just yards (metres) apart, oil producers scramble to get oil out of the ground as fast as possible before their neighbours siphoned it off themselves.

There was no regard for the market. They just kind of pushed undikes and let the oil sit arounding great big lakes, Schaible said. adding conditions led to pollution and fires.

There was anarchy and that led to the commission getting the tion," he said.

Texas producers did not take lightly to any form of government regulation.

Stability

They locked the (TRC) agents and inspectors out of their fields. Some of them armed themsclves," he said.

Governors of both Texas and Oklahoma declared martial law in the oil fields in 1931. They sent the state militias to shut the wells down until prices stabilised. The TRC subsequently provided price stability through the early 1970s.

outlays were somewhat smaller than expected. Imbalance

Analysts also said the budget imbalance is usually higher in March than in other months because people who owe taxes generally wait until April to pay. while those due a refund normally file carly.

For the first half of the 1988 fiscal year, the government has run a deficit of $118.9 billion, 3.5 per cent lower than for the same period a year ago. For the entire fiscal year, which ends on Sept 30, the government is projecting a deficit of $146.7 billion, down 2.4 per cent from the $150.4-billion deficit in

However, the congressional budget office estimates the deficit will climb to $157 billion.

Last year, the deficit fell sharply because of an unexpected $28-billion windfall in tax payments made by people who sold of long-term assets before the capital gains rates were increased under the new tax law. Some analysts say there could be a second, smaller windfall this year if people end up owing more in taxes for 1987 than they would have under the old tax law. English clubs may lose points for misbehaviour

LONDON, April 22, (Reuter): English soccer clubs could lose League points next season if players misbehave. Suspensions will also be increased if the get-tough proposals, announced yesterday by League secretary Graham Kelly and Professional Foot-ballers' Association secretary

Gordon Taylor, are approved. Clubs could have up to three points deducted over a season and a player sent off for violent conduct or a serious foul will face a three-match ban instead of the present two.

Suspensions for subsequent dismissals will increase automatically by one match for each offence, so that a player ordered off again will be banned for four matches, then five, and SO OTL.

Taylor said: "It's an attempt to introduce the ultimate sanction of deducting League points ... the eyes of the soccer world are on us and we are hoping to get back into Europe.

Torino hold on to defeat Juventus

ROME, April 22, (Reuter): Torino conceded two goals in the space of five minutes in the second half but hung on to beat Juventus 3-2 on aggregate in their Italian Cup semifinal on Wednesday.

Torino, 2-0 ahead from the first leg, went further ahead in the 18th minute when midfielder Luigi de Agostini deflected a coriner into his own net. -

Levelled

De Agostini went some to making amends for his error when he converted a 60th minute penalty to put Juventus 2-1 ahead on the night after Renato Buso had levelled the score five --- minutes earlier. But there was no further scoring.

Torino will meet Sampdoria in the final. They beat Internazionale on Wednesday, Roberto Mancini scoring the only goal. The first leg was goalless.

Flamengo seek .$6m for Renato.....

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 22, (Reuter): Officials at Brazilian soccer club Flamengo have told Italy's Bologna to double their $3 million offer if they want to sign striker Renato Gaucho.

Bologna director Nelio Governato made the offer on Wednesday night but Flamengo vice-president Josef Berensztein rejected it and said yesterday: Three million dollars is a lot of money, but not for a player like Renato, who is recognised by the media as Brazil's top footballer of the moment."

He said Flamengo would agree to sell Renato only if Second Division Bologna offered $6 million, "a normal transfer fee in Italy," he added.

Berensztein said Governato had asked for time to talk to other Bologna officials but said he would meet again with Flamengo directors before retur-

Benfica to face PSV in Champions' Cup final

LISBON, April 22, (Reuter): Portugal's Benfica, representing the old aristocracy of the European game, and PSV Eind-hoven, the standard bearers of a new wave' of Dutch soccer, will meet in an intriguing Champions' Cup final in Stuttgart on May 25.

In the semifinals on Wednesday. Benfica reached their sixth by beating Steaua Bucharest 2-0 in front of a crowd of 120,000 in Lisbon. It was the coup de grace that had always seemed likely after the first leg in Romania ended 0-0 two weeks ago. Earlier, PSV Eindhoven, the only one of the four semifinalists seeking to reach the final for the first time, stifled Real Madrid's ambitions in a goalless contest that followed a 1-I draw in Spain on April 6.

Mattered

The 20th-minute goal scored by Edward Linskens in the first leg proved the goal that mattered. It was the only away goal of the drawn tie and so earned PSV the distinction of becoming the first Dutch side to reach the final of Europe's premier club competition since Ajax Amsterdam in 1973.

PSV's coach Guus Hiddink said after the game: "It is a very important night for PSV Eindhoven and for Dutch football."

Ajax had won the first leg against Marseille 3-0 in France and although they were beaten 2l in the return on Wednesday, their place in the final was never really in doubt.

They build a four-goal advantage when Swedish international drive in the 22nd minute and second-half goals by Jean-Pierre Papin and Klaus Allofs came too late for Marseille to mount a serious challenge. Mechelen crushed Italian club

Atalanta's hopes of becoming the first Second Division side to reach a European final. The Belgians, 2-1 winners at home two weeks ago, won the second leg by the same margin after struggling in the first half when they fell behind to a penalty by Oliviero

In the sixth, Devon White walked and stole both second and third before scoring on Boone's bunt single. Ray's two-run single made it 7-3.

California scored four times in the eighth, triggered by Boone's leadoff double. Ray doubled home two runs.

Stan Javier drove in the lead run with a two-out bloop single in the 13th inning and Oakland defeated Chicago for only the second time in their last 14 meet-

With the score tied 3-3 since the seventh inning, Jose Canseco and Dave Parker had one-out singles and Mark McGwire walked to load the bases. Pinch hitter Dave Henderson struck out but Javier blooped a single to left, scoring Canseco.

Shortstop Ozzie Guillen boubled Glenn Hubbar's grounder, allowing Parker to score, and McGwire came home on a wild pitch by loser Bill Long.

Chicago tied the game with two runs in the seventh, including Carlton Fisk's Leadoff homer that chased Oakland starter Storm Davis.

Canseco gave Oakland a 3-1 lead in the fifth with a two-run homer. Ivan Calderon homered for Chicago.

Senna clocks fastest lap before crashing

MONZA, Italy, April 22, (AP): Brazilian driver Ayrton Senna clocked the fastest lap before crashing his McLaren car at the Lesmo bend during the third and last day of test runs by several formula-one teams at the Monza autodrome yesterday.

Senna escaped the accident unhurt but his racer, powered by a Japanese-made Honda engine, was badly damaged.

"I did not suffer any injury but I was lucky because I was running at full speed. I probably ran into an oil spot and I lost control of the car which flipped off against the guardrail," Senna explained as he returned to the

His McLaren, which was later towed to the paddocks, showed a badly damaged front and a crushed right wheel.

Ahead of the accident Senna who joined McLaren this season, had turned the lap in 1:28.94 minutes, the fastest time set by any driver in the three days of the trials set up by the best F-1 teams in preparation for the GP of San Marino, the second event of the 1988 world championship scheduled in Imola on May 1. Drivers

Senna, who improved by more than three seconds from the previous day, edged the two drivers of the home team Ferrari - Austrian Gerhard Berger and Italy's Michele Alboreto. Berger was timed in 1:29.07 minutes - 0.35 faster than Wednesday - while Alboreto had 1:29.35. Alboreto had spunned off the track during the morning tests, without damaging his Ferrari. He also blamed an oil spot for the accident.

World champion Nelson Piquet, who replaced Senna at Lotus, clocked the fourth fastest time of the day, in 1:30.70 minutes, before blowing up the Honda engine of his racer.

The fastest times were clocked by teams using turbocharged engines, which are expected to dominate the San Marino GP.

BAAB unlikely to decide Budd's fate on Sunday

LONDON, April.22, (Reuter): The decision on whether to ban Zola Budd is unlikely after all to be taken on Sunday.

The British Amateur Athletic Board (BAAB) council meets in emergency session on Sunday morning after being told by the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF) to suspend Budd for 12 months for her involvement in a meeting in South Africa.

The BAAB must bar South African-born British runner Budd or face suspension. A ban on the board would mean all British athletes missing the Seoul But Tony Ward, spokesman for the BAAB, said today: "If the BAAB council goes along with legal advice, you are right to assume the decision is unlikely to be made on Sunday.'

Helping He added: "Passions are running high on this issue and some of the wild things that have been said about the matter this week from various quarters are not helping anyone.

"Basically, our lawyers are saying: Let's look at this coolly and study the legal implications thoroughly."

"There's been a lot of chauvinistic nonsense flying about. We're not going to be going into Sunday's meeting with 'land of hope and glory' blasting out. "But we do want it to be known that Zola Budd is going to get a fair hearing from us in accordance with natural justice." The IAAF's ruling last Saturday gave the BAAB four weeks to make its decision. Since then the BAAB has been formally requested by the IAAF to report on a number of matters relating to Budd. Sunday's meeting will now be asked to authorise such an investigation. Budd's coach John Bryant" said today: "Zola and I welcome any investigation fairly and properly held an which leads to natural justice getting its way. the better. The truth that she has broken no rules must come out. We have taken our own legal advice and have been told our case is very strong."

Bryant added: "It's a pity this sort of investigation wasn't heldbefore last week's (IAAF) inquiry. But one has to say better late than never." However, in its ruling last Saturday, the IAAF said Budd had greatly exceeded the bounds of being a mere spectator at a cross country meeting in South Africa last year.

A BAAB statement on Friday said: "After receiving the IAAF resolution, the BAAB has taken legal advice and is now being asked by the IAAF by letter for a report on a number of matters relating to Zola Budd."
